

ANNOUNCING THE SPRING 2010 LITERARY LINE-UP FOR SATURDAYS @ THE STUDIO!

StudioSTL is pleased as punch to offer the following writing workshops to creative thinkers and dreamers from all across the St. Louis metro region. Here's what you need to know (for more information, please see our website – www.studiostl.org). All of our quality, one-of-a-kind workshops are directed by top professionals and are offered free of charge. Because of the public outcry for our wonderful word journeys, we request advance registration by calling or emailing us! Unless otherwise noted, the StudioSTL Saturday workshops are held from 10am – 12pm at the studio (address below!).

FANCY TALK: TECHNICAL WRITING FOR NON-TECHNICAL OCCASIONS

Saturday, February 6 Ages 10 to 18 Jason Valentine & Emma O'Brien

Not interested in the snooze-fest of technical writing? Try this workshop to get your business writing skills in shape without falling asleep. Join Jason and Emma (technical writers and general masters of hilarity) to write a technical love letter or a resume for the job of Gum Chewer.

SONG WRITE: LYRIC ANALYSIS & REFLECTION

Saturday, February 20 Ages 14 to 18 Chad Lawson

Crafting song lyrics takes just as much skill as writing great works of fiction and poetry. If you love songs and connect lyrics to your life, join Chad (professional writer and former rap artist) to explore what's behind the music that moves you.

WRITE SONG: LYRIC DEVELOPMENT

Saturday, February 27 Ages 14 to 18 Lynn O'Brien

Do you freestyle in the shower or rewrite lyrics to songs on the radio? Join Lynn, singer/songwriter to learn how to put your personal musings to music. Bring your raps and songs in progress or create something new at this workshop. Instruments welcome.

2 HOURS, 1 BOOK: WRITING KIDS' BOOKS

Saturday, March 6 Ages 6 to 10 Amelia Flood

Do you dream up new stories all the time? Does the thought of a penguin wearing an umbrella hat, a car named "the princess of niceness," or a zombie chicken make you laugh? Join Amelia (journalist and storyteller extraordinaire) to create a fun and fantastical book from cover to cover.

WRITE OUT LOUD: READING YOUR WORDS

Saturday, March 27 Ages 10 – 18 Shane Signorino

Stand up and be heard! If you love to act, love to write, or just long to be loud, join Shane (actor and spoken word artist) to learn how to perform your writing. The written word becomes even more powerful combined with the human voice.

AND ON YOUR LEFT: TRAVEL WRITING PART I

Saturday, April 3 Ages 6 – 10 Tori Walters

Ever wanted to catch a midnight airplane to ancient China, go birdwatching in Tanzania, or spend a weekend away on Mars? Join Tori (world traveler, ninja, and bookbinding expert) to create travel-tales about trips real and imagined.

AND ON YOUR RIGHT: TRAVEL WRITING PART II

Saturday, April 10 Ages 6 – 10 Tori Walters

Where can I get a good moon-pie around here? In this workshop, we will create fantasy travel guides that include everything from intergalactic maps to under-sea lunch tips. Tori, StudioSTL's book making expert, will help you bind your travel-guide so it outlasts any buffalo stampede or pirate attack, because you never know.

WRITE OUT LOUD: SPOKEN WORDS

Saturday, April 24 Ages 10 – 18 Nicky Rainey

Poetry isn't quiet anymore! Spoken word mashes traditional poetry with rapping, story-telling and acting. Join Nicky (writer and spoken word artist) to lift your poems off the page.

StudioSTL

a literary arts center for students & community

centene center for arts & education – 3547 olive st, ste 300 st. louis, mo 63103

studiostl.org 314.289.4080